

Dr Prahba Apte

1947 - 2006

Aai Aai where have you been
Fifteen years have gone by
Not a day goes without you
Thinking about the good times we had
The values that you taught us
Giving was in your heart day in day out
You are a superstar that's in my heart
Today I salute you for what I am

By Bahvna Joshi

More about Prabha

SAY
HER
NAME

Dr Prahba Apte

Dr Prahba Apte was Professor of Political Science in Ranchi Mahila Vidyalyaya, Ranchi (Jharkhand), SNDT Mahila Vidyapeeth, Mumbai and Ramnarayan Ruia College, Mumbai. She had special interest in Education and the lives of women. Her articles on ‘Mumbaitil stree shishkanachi vatchal – 1876 to 1950, & ‘Women’s position in Mumbai’s labour movement’ and a treatise ‘Woman’s position in Indian Society, written for Vanasthali Vidyapeeth’, Rajasthan, are worth mentioning. Her article ‘Naitik mulyanna japanare shishksn-shastri : Dr Savarpalli Radhakrishnan’, is a tribute to the late Dr Radhakrishnan. Dr Apte has done a great service to Marathi literature by writing books on political science, biographies, short stories, editing, etc. Her two books namely : Panditi Nehru and Parliamentary Practices, and Kusumagraj-ek mahamanav have received the best literary awards from the Government of Maharashtra.

Contributor Bhavna Joshi